

Though Perfect Eloquence Adorned

These three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love. 1 Cor. 13:13

1. Though per - fect el - o - quence a - dorned my sweet
2. Nay, though my faith with bound - less pow'r ev'n moun -
3. Love suf - fers long; love en - vies not; but love
4. Love still shall hold an end - less reign in earth
5. Now dark and dim, as through a glass, are God per - suad - ing tongue, though I could speak in high - er strains tains could re - move I still am noth - ing, if I'm void • is ev - er kind; she nev - er boast - eth of her - self, and heav'n a - bove, when tongues shall cease, and proph - ets fail, and truth be - held; then shall we see as face to face, than ev - er an - gel sung; though proph - e - cy my soul in - of char - i - ty and love. Al - though with lib - 'ral hand I • nor proud - ly lifts the mind. Love har - bours no sus - pi - cious and ev - 'ry gift but love. Here all our gifts im - per - fect and God shall be un - veiled. Faith, hope, and love, now dwell on spired, and made all myst - 'ries plain: yet, were I gave my goods the poor to feed, nay, gave my • thought, is pa - tient to the bad; grieved when she are; but bet - ter days draw nigh, when per - fect earth, and earth by them is blest; but faith and void of Chris - tian love, these gifts were all in vain. bod - y to the flames, still fruit - less were the deed.

• hears of sins and crimes, and in the truth is glad.
light shall pour its rays, and all those sha - dows fly.
hope must yield to love, of all the grac - es best.